

AGENTS NATIONAL TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY SELECTS RESWARE

Technology partnership with Windward Consulting will implement Adeptive Software's flagship product, improving productivity and better serving national agent network

Boulder, Colo. – (Dec. 16, 2009) - Agents National Title Insurance Company recently executed a technology partnership with Windward Consulting to implement ResWare, the industry's most effective real estate transaction management system, for the company's internal underwriting operations.

Agents National Title Insurance Company chose Adeptive Software's flagship product to improve its competitive position in its growing markets, improve efficiency and better serve its agents.

"There is nothing in the market like ResWare," said David Townsend, CEO of Agents National Title. "We are extremely excited to work with ResWare and we are looking forward to strengthening our business platform with the help of this transaction management product."

ResWare's technology and workflow automation will allow agents and underwriters to grow their business without increasing payroll. ResWare also provides users with a sustainable competitive advantage through workflow and process automation, improved efficiency, transparency, seamless integration with other programs and workflow improvements.

"We are impressed by Agents' internal focus on technology and we feel this is a great, strategic fit for both partners," said Curt Szymanski, president of Windward Consulting. "We are looking forward to executing their ResWare implementation and also to the opportunity to work with many respected agents in the Agents National Title growing network."

Adeptive Software is the fastest growing company in the title and escrow software market, thanks to ResWare's continued strong adoption by agents and underwriters across the country.

"Having a nationally recognized company like Agents National Title Insurance Company choose ResWare is another testament to the efficiency and effectiveness the product brings to document and workflow management," said Bryan Buus, president of Adeptive Software.

About Adeptive Software

Based in Boulder, Colo., Adeptive Software develops products that deliver efficiency, flexibility and scalability for the real estate title industry. Adeptive Software's flagship product, ResWare,™ is a title production and process flow software package that can be scaled and customized for any size company. Used by the many of the industry's leading companies, ResWare ensures that transactions are accurate and efficient and that employees are executing the same way every time, reducing missing information, lost productivity and costly errors. For more information, please visit <http://adeptivesw.com/>.

#